CONFERENCE BROCHURE

ADR IN BLOOM PROGRAM SESSIONS

Receive a year's worth of CLE in just a few days. The core of the conference features 97 sessions organized into 14 subject and practice areas tracks: Arbitration, Communication, Community/Peer, Construction, Corporate and Business ADR, Court, Ethics, Family, Government/Environment/Public Policy, International, Labor and Employment, Mediation and More, Practice Development/Diversity, and Representing Clients in ADR Processes. See pages 6-10.

LEGAL EDUCATORS' COLLOQUIUM

On Saturday morning six sessions in the main conference are part of the Legal Educators' Colloquium, where law professors, adjuncts, and faculty from other disciplines explore and discuss innovative ways to teach dispute resolution. See page 10.

INSTITUTE FOR MASS AND CLASS ACTION DISPUTE RESOLUTION

The Institute for Mass and Class Action Dispute Resolution is designed to address issues of interest to the litigator, the mediator, the in-house counsel, the arbitrator and the special master involved in mass or class action litigation. The Institute's mission is to focus on best practices for the efficient and just resolution of these types of cases. This new event will run all day Thursday April 26. Special rates available for those who also attend the full conference. See page 5.

PRE CONFERENCE SKILLS SESSIONS

Start the conference experience off with specialized skills training offered in the "master class" model. Expert faculty and leading ADR organizations present Thursday morning sessions in small classroom settings. See page 4.

NATIONAL COURT ADR CONFERENCE

Attend the Court Conference, the international gathering and information place for judges, court administrators, lawyers, mediators, and others interested in court dispute resolution programs. Leaders in the national and international court ADR arena will present what's new in research, issues in quality training, innovative programs, and more. See page 3.

FORUM ON EXPANDING OPPORTUNITIES

The Forum focuses on expanding professional ADR opportunities for minorities and women through a set of practice development and skills sessions specifically designed to address the barriers in law firms, corporations, ADR provider organizations, and other large institutions. A must for those working in corporate, legal and ADR environments. See page 3.

INSTITUTE FOR MASS AND CLASS ACTION DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Thursday, April 26, 2007 | 8:00 am – 4:45 pm

Learn about best practices for efficient and just resolution of mass and class actions from the Institute's faculty of nationally known litigators, in-house counsel, and neutrals, plus a U. S. District Court Judge, who is a member of the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation.*

8:00 am – 9:10 am

Program Session A

Settlement of Class Actions 101: An Overview of Issues Involved in Mediating and Negotiating Settlement of Class Actions

Van Beckwith, Baker Botts LLP
Leslie Bryant, Doffermyre Shields Canfield Knowles & Devine, LLC
Scott Elder, Alston & Bird LLP
Seamus Duffy, Drinker Biddle

This panel will explore the legal, practical, and ethical basics of negotiation and execution of class action settlements.

9:20 am – 10:40 am

Program Session B

Complex Science Issues in Negotiation, Mediation and Settlement of Mass and Class Actions

John Childs, Chief Counsel of Litigation, Georgia-Pacific Corporation
F. Sam Eberts, Sr. Vice President & General Counsel, Laboratory Corporation of America Holdings
Barbara Harding, Kirkland & Ellis, LLP
Peter Grossi, Arnold & Porter, LLP
Laura Owens, Alston & Bird LLP
Wendy Trachte-Huber, Mediator

Mass and class actions often involve complex issues of science, medicine and technology. This panel will discuss various strategies and issues, including: Daubert and other potentially dispositive issues, use of appointed experts, maturity of science or medicine involved, practical and inexpensive methods to protect parties from fraudulent claims, and roles for mediators and special masters.

11:50 am – 12:00 pm

Program Session C

Class Action Arbitration

Eugene Farber, Farber, Pappalardo & Carbonari
Stuart M. Widman, Miller Sharkman & Beem, LLP
William L.D. Barrett, Hollyer Brady Smith & Hines, LLP

The United States Supreme Court's controversial decision in Green Tree Financial Corp. v. Bazzle implicitly permitted class action proceedings in arbitration. This panel will review how class arbitrations have operated in light of Bazzle, and whether class action waivers are unconscionable in light of the California Supreme Court's decision in Discover Bank v. Superior Court.

12:10 pm – 1:25 pm

Lunch Plenary

Mediation, Negotiation and Settlement of Mass and Class Action Litigation

Kenneth R. Feinberg, The Feinberg Group, LLP
J. Frederick Motz, U.S. District Judge for the District of Maryland
Eldidio P.D. Villarreal, Vice President and Associate General Counsel, Schering-Plough Corporation
Paul Strain, Venable LLP
Charles Parker, Locke Liddell & Sapp, LLP
Joe Hollingsworth, Spriggs & Hollingsworth, LLP
Jane Thorpe, Alston & Bird LLP

The mediation, negotiation and settlement of mass and class action litigation is a matter of intense interest to the media, Wall Street and the many neutrals, lawyers and parties. This panel, with decades of experience in this arena, will address the practical aspects of resolving such claims, including the timing of such discussions, the valuation of cases, the specter of bankruptcy, insurance coverage disputes and future claims, the appointment of special settlement masters, ethics, media and public relations issues.

1:30 pm – 3:00 pm

Program Session D

In-House Counsel Perspective on the Negotiation, Mediation and Settlement of Mass and Class Action Litigation

Robert Ernst, Associate General Counsel, Litigation, Verizon Wireless
George J. Lykos, Senior Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary, Bayer Corporation
Michael Bolton, Senior Counsel, Baxter International
Anna Richo, Vice President, Law, Amgen, Inc.
Wayne Thorpe, JAMS
Arvin Maskin, Weil, Gotshal & Manges

In-house counsel are key decision makers in the negotiation, mediation and settlement of mass and class action litigation. This panel will focus on what strategies have succeeded and what strategies have failed and the factors that will position mass or class action litigation for settlement.

3:15 pm – 4:45 pm

Program Session E

Option 1: Post Disaster ADR: The Katrina Experience

Sean B. McSweeney, Senior Vice President & Deputy General Counsel, Liberty Mutual Group
Bobby Marzine Harges, Loyola University School of Law
Christopher E. Barnes, Senior Vice President, Claims, North America Field Operation Zurich
Edward Sherman, Tulane University Law School

This session will describe ADR programs offered for disputes arising out of Hurricane Katrina. Most prominent are the Hurricane Mediation Programs established by the states of Louisiana and Mississippi for property-damage disputes. Insurance companies also established ADR programs to supplement the states' efforts. ADR initiatives are developing for non-insurance hurricane-related litigation through court-annexed programs, multi-district and class action settlement proceedings, and criminal and small-claims court cases.

Option 2: Recent Developments in the Adjudication of Claims in Mass Settlements

Michael K. Lewis, JAMS
Kenneth R. Feinberg, The Feinberg Group, LLP
Jeff Richardson, Mitchell, Silberberg & Knupp, LLP
Lester Levy, JAMS
Nicole Hamman, Director, Client Services, Poorman Douglas Corp.

Mass torts and class action settlements often involve procedures for full arbitrations, file reviews, and other forms of adjudication. The panel will discuss current examples in high profile cases.
